e.g R example of object-oriented language.

def: any variable made in R treated as an object.
has a specific value.

3

ecologists. data visualisation.

↑

on the rise
↑

in the past used
in ecology

large databases

''

can be beautiful:
data visualisation.
graphs!

Ecologists #tidyverse #RStats on Twitter

—

O————————————— equal sign! =

| python?

o

o — responses & comments not useful.

no updates!

o

inconsistant.

html {

github flavored markdown & java code ?

CSS.

satellite data.

javascript

① personalise profile picture?

① click on alt-1 version of me.

—

properly synced with Github.
Go to repo,
see ①
should be able to see Δs.

A: Added
commit
commit message
push

just clone once. don't need to do again

?

no, repo is just like
any other folder.

can't push empty folder to github.

Git Bash svar
command line.
git status
i·e

gnd$gitstatus
commit.

("data/ EpetremElongatur.csv")

data must be put into
working directory
for dff weeks or data
specific folder.

write RMarkdown notes.
can easily see it online.

text file?

==must add
as .md file==

not .Rmd

week 01
week 02
week 03

each week
graphs
script
from codes
clz
notes from
readings
notes from
this —